

Linking a health monitoring system with an IoT-enabled telephone system to allow timely attention to events by medical staff

- Allow a health monitoring system and an IoT-enabled telephone system to work collaboratively
- The patient is able to receive timely attention by medical personnel
- Medical personnel can receive real-time data remotely and provide consultation in response
- Better quality of medical service